2007 AUSTRALIAN ROGAINE CHAMPIONSHIPS

Yeperenye Yaw ARC 2007

Saturday 28 to Sunday 29 July 2007

The Hash House, located east of Alice Springs, will provide camping, more comfortable accommodation and an icy cold beer...

Yeperenye is important to the traditional Arrernte people of Mpwartwe, also known as Alice Springs. Arrernte people understand that their Dreaming, or Altyerre established during the creation period, remains within the landscape around them today. Read more about this dreaming at:

Yaw: VERB To deviate temporarily from a straight course.

Places to visit following the event include N'Dhala Gorge, famous for thousands of rock carvings or petroglyphs, relics of the art and stories of the Eastern Arrernte people.

Endangered plants found in the area include Hays Wattle and the White Cypress Pine. Water holes attract wildlife, including a diverse range of birdlife from finches, budgerigars to predatory eagles. The uncommon Black-flanked Rock-wallaby may be seen along with the nocturnal Fat-tailed Antechinus and the large Knob-tailed gecko.

The Yeperenye Yaw Rogaine will appeal to all ROGAINERS, offering an area not usually accessible to the sport.
